RECORD COLD HITS PT. ARTHUR

Barometer Hits Highest Point Here

BULB GOING DOWN

Safety First Rule Advised By Bureau

Cover up the rose bushes, cut off the water, or let the faucets run, drain the radiators on automobiles, and protect the livestock tonight.

While there was a false alarm about a cold-wave the other day, this one is no joke, because it's real now and getting colder all the time.

Temperatures for Port Arthur tonight will drop to between 21 and 23 degrees, the weather forecast issued today by Ernest Carson, weather observer here, predicts.

Freezing temperature arrived in the city at 7:30 a. m., and two and a half hours later, at 10 a. m., the mercury was down to 31 degrees. Carson said. All the way down the country to the Gulf coast the freezing weather will extend.

In the north and northwest they're having the coldest weather in 15 years, a temperature of 15 degrees below zero registering today in Kansas City.

Slowly rising temperatures Sunday, with unsettled weather, probably rain, also is in today's forecast issued by Carson. Winds on the Texas coast today and Sunday will be moderate, westerly, the forecast sets forth.

"Severe," says Washington. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The cold wave which has its grip on the middle states will extend all over the east and far into the south by Sunday, the weather bureau forecasted here today.

Temperatures ranging from a few degrees above zero to several degrees below will prevail.

The cold wave was described by the weather bureau as "severe."

Coldest in Eleven Years
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 5.—Intense suffering was caused throughout the southwest today by continuance of the cold wave which has now held sway for a week. Temperature in Kansas City today touched 15 below, coldest in eleven years. No relief is in sight, according to forecasters.

Considerable loss was reported among livestock on ranges.

Wire and rail communication was demoralized.

Chicago Mercury 17 Below
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Lower temperatures in a decade struck the midwest early today bringing suffering to thousands in the tenement districts of the large cities.

The mercury stood at 17 below in Chicago as the lowest mark since 1912 when it was 16 below.

Similar low temperatures were reported from practically every section of the Great Lakes region and the midwest.

Chicago firemen were kept busy answering calls to 111 fires in 221 hours—believed to be a record for this city. Slight relief is in sight, weather bureau officials said. Somewhat higher temperatures are on the way from the Canadian northwest.

Blizzard Hits Ohio
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 5.—A cold wave accompanied by high winds and snow struck Ohio today.

Zero temperatures were reported to be general throughout the state. Snows were heaviest along Lake Erie.

Five below zero was registered at the weather bureau here.

Freezing in Florida
ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 5.—The cold wave swept into the south today, bringing the lowest temperatures of the season in many sections.

Chicago Police Patrol Fails to Beat Stork in Race to Hospital

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—At 4:30 o'clock this morning Fred Cordes hurriedly bundled his wife in blankets, helped her to enter their automobile and started a mad drive for a hospital.

Cordes walked his wife to the station and explained the situation to the desk sergeant. Only the regulation open small cars used by the police "glitter squads" were available.

The Cordes entered and a patrolman started a reckless drive to the nearest hospital.

Half way to the institution, in a temperature of 12 degrees below zero, the baby arrived. It was five minutes before the party arrived at the hospital.

Tender, skilled hands took over the mother and child, and ten minutes later a smiling nurse announced to Cordes:

"It's a boy; weighs ten pounds; both are doing well."

Physicians said neither the mother nor child would suffer from their experience.

WHEN I WAS 20

By FRANK W. KERNS, Orchestral Instructor and Conductor.

When I was 20 I studied violin in Hankato, Minnesota, under John Fischer during the winter months, and in the summer traveled 540 miles in a prairie schooner to harvest wheat in North Dakota fields and husk corn in Iowa. The fall of that year, I gave my first music lesson, but I don't remember who the pupil was. That was 28 years ago, when William Jennings Bryan first ran for president.

CLOTHES FRAUD REVEALED HERE

Goods 'Paid For' Arrive 'C. O. D.'

Police today were checking up the activities of a local man, arrested at Houston at the request of the local department following a trail of swindling alleged by police to have happened in Port Arthur.

It is reported to police that the man now under arrest purported to be a representative of a mail order clothing house. He is alleged to have taken a number of orders for suits, collecting the amounts due for them.

The suits, however, it is claimed, on arrival here have varying amounts against them in the shape of post office "C. O. D.'s" which must be paid before the suits can be taken from the postoffice.

Charges of swindling are to be lodged against the man by police as soon as the investigation can be completed. Police are desirous of any one having complaints of this nature reporting them, they said.

MABEL NORMAND DENIES BLAME

Claims Censors Unjust in Banning Pictures

PARTY 'NOT WRONG'

Star Much Affected By Reports of Wild Revel

By United Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 5.—"I am absolutely blameless in this matter and it is unjust for the censors or anyone to condemn me before they have heard my story."

Mabel Normand, film star, whose chauffeur shot and wounded Courtland S. Dimes, Denver oil man, when he found Miss Normand in Dimes' apartment on New Year's day, today began her fight to prevent her films from being banned throughout the country.

Denies Chauffeur's Intention. In a plea to the public and boards of censors not to condemn her to the fate of Fatty Arbuckle until her side of the story has been heard, the film star, from her sick bed in the Good Samaritan hospital here, said:

"I do not believe Greer (the chauffeur) had any attachment for me. But because this man went out of his way I have to pay the penalty."

"I appeal to the sense of justice and fair play of the people."

"All I ask is a chance to show that I am innocent."

"Until my story comes out in court I ask the people to withhold judgment."

'Nothing Wrong' at Party
"There was nothing in any way wrong at Dimes' apartment," there was nothing like a party, such as seems to be the general impression."

Miss Normand, informed of the action of censors in several states, who recommended suspension of her pictures, was visibly affected.

Because he (Greer) fired those shots is every cause in the country going to ban my pictures?" she asked.

"Greer was out of his head. I am not to blame."

Gubernatorial Hat of V. A. Collins in Ring

Promise of a huge delegation of Port Arthur people today was made to the management of the campaign of V. A. Collins, former Beaumont man, in the opening of his campaign for governor tonight at Beaumont.

The meeting tonight is to be held in the city auditorium at Fair park at 7:30 o'clock. Due to the weather arrangements to stage the meeting in the open air at Weiss park were cancelled this morning.

Collins was formerly the senator from this district in the Texas legislature and has a large following both in Port Arthur and Beaumont.

Representative B. E. Quinn will have charge of the arrangements at Beaumont for the meeting. Delegations from Sour Lake, Orange and Hall will attend with the local delegation.

FORD HOPS AS 'JEP' FIDDLES

Henry Unable to Resist Old Timer's Music

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., Jan. 5.—Jep Bisbee, old-time fiddler, did what Henry Ford's presidential boomers couldn't do.

He made the multimillionaire motor magnate dance to his tune.

Ford and Jep were the leading figures at the house-warming given by M. D. Bryant, Ford's brother-in-law, here last night.

The Virginia reel, the quadruple, the schottische—all the favorites of the pre-jazz age—were danced and Ford was the liveliest of the crowd.

"Ma" Bisbee performed on the organ, Jep fiddled and called off, and Ford danced.

The manufacturer and Mrs. Ford arrived on his private car after picking up the veteran fiddler and his wife at Paris, Michigan.

ICE TOMB HOLDS 26 DEAD, BELIEF

Rescuers Unable to Penetrate Frozen Shroud

More than a score are still missing. Most of them are believed buried in the wreckage.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-
COTT TO RUTH ELLINGTON

I'm dashing you off a letter in the greatest haste, my dear Ruth, for I am expecting father and mother at any moment.

I did not go to the train to meet them for oh how I hate to be either welcomed or bade farewell at the train unless one is going on a long visit. Even then a train letter, or something that will beguile the journey in the way of books sent down to the station or the boat, to my mind is much better.

Mr. Struble telephoned me this morning that you were to make the best possible bargain with that man. For the pearls I sold, dear, I got three thousand dollars apiece. I think you could make a bargain with him for about four, not more than five. But Karl has called that Mr. Struble is to buy back the pearl at any price.

I am sending with this letter a certified check from Struble & Struble for ten thousand dollars. You will get this cashed and pay out as much as you need and return the rest to me. I will see that they get it returned to them.

Ruth, I have a hunch that Bradford woman is going to make a lot of trouble. She has been snooping around this hotel all this day and yet she ostentatiously declines to let me speak to her.

How absolutely best positively good women can be!

I don't mind telling you, dear, that I wish I were going ahead with mother and dad. The baby is an angel and I'd like to show him to Alice. The little mink, I shall shake her well when I see her.

The whole town is plastered with bills with Miss Perier's name in big letters. They are playing at the Biato which is one of the largest moving picture places here. I think I'll go and see it. I get a chance, although I don't want to take mother and dad. Even an unsophisticated as they are, they might have suspicious, beloved dears.

I am glad the business is going on so well but I knew it would. In the first place every woman in town will want to see Mrs. Harry Ellington and how she takes her husband's absconding and betrayal. (What was we all are!) After you get them the fat ones, the living skeletons and the ugly ones and the deformed think they will only have to buy one of your semi-transparent georgette night dresses to look as beautiful as that perfect little Venus upon which you show them. (What foolish exotic are we all?)

Was that what Paul Perier used to do when they called her a model? If so it is no wonder she decided to go into moving pictures.

I hear dad and mother at the door. Goodby. Lovingly.

TOMORROW: Leslie's letter to her husband—A little degradation of independence.

TWO PARKING POINTERS THAT MAY AID YOU

It may be well to park the car well toward the curb, but not so close as to make it impossible to remove a tire in event of a puncture. Of course it is always possible to start up the car and steer away from the curb but it's quite a job with a flat tire, especially if it's on a front wheel. Punctures, it should be remembered, inevitable develop after a car has been standing, and this should be a gentle warning to the motorist to park his car in anticipation of what he may be obliged to do.

Before exercising your vocabulary of strong adjectives on discovery of a bumper scratch or a nick out of the bumper take a look at the car that is parked adjacent to the damaged part. If some damaged part of this other car matches the damage to your car you're unquestionably found the guilty party. Any action that is necessary can be taken accordingly.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and this, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Beaman, of Central, S. C. "I would rather, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of and I then remembered my mother used to take it. After the first bottle I was better. I began to breathe up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has been reported where other medicines had failed. Try Cardui. It may be just what you need.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

1001 Sixth Street

L. E. Calhoun, Minister

Bible study, 9:45 a. m.

Teaching and worship, 10:40 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Young folks meeting, 6 p. m.

Prayer meeting Wednesday, 7 p. m.

Ladies class Thursday, 2 p. m.

These services are growing in interest and attendance with each service. I think it is not saying too much to say that every government has a few citizens who are not dependable—true to their country and hence are counted "slackers." I think it is equally true that every church in existence has a few members that can not be depended upon—are "spiritual slackers." Perhaps most all fields have a few tares and weeds mixed with the wheat—these can never be both wheat and tares at the same time. You must take a stand one way or another; for right or wrong. You are either standing for the New Testament church and Christianity, or you are against it. There is no middle ground. You are either standing out 100 per cent for Christ or you are against Him as Matt. 12:30. Then, my friends, since Jesus makes this so plain, where are you standing? To neglect Him, His church and your duty to Him, is to be against Him!

Surely after all He has done for you you ought not find it hard to decide to take your stand definitely for Him and His church. If you want Him to accept you in that great day—you must accept Him here. If you want Him to hear you when you pray, you must hear Him and obey Him each day.

A hearty welcome awaits you one and all.

We invite the public to all services. We have good music, gospel sermons, free seats and a welcome for all. If this is the church you prefer as a place of worship, we invite you to place your membership here at once. Contributors to the church building fund are notified that we must pay all bills for present construction in thirty days and the purchase of bonds and contributions to the fund is our source of income for this purpose. Prompt action will be appreciated. Do not forget to bring your offering for the general budget. This is the most expensive period of the church work and it is very important that we pay all bills promptly as we have done heretofore.

The year that has just come to a close was the best year in the history of this church, larger congregations, more members received and more money raised for all purposes.

We start the new year with encouraging prospects. We will soon begin the erection of a church building on the new site at the corner of Sixteenth and Shreveport, and expect to occupy it in a few months. All the organized departments in the church are working harmoniously.

The Sunday school is taking on new life and if the active members of the church will give it their encouragement and help we will have the greatest Sunday in the history of the church.

The pastor wishes here and now to express his gratitude to the members of the church that have been loyal to him, the church and to Christ, thereby making the success of the church the past year possible and the Daily

TUT DISCOVERER LOSING HEALTH

Howard Carter Worries Over Relations With Egypt

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Fear that the not very robust health of Howard Carter, discoverer of the tomb of Pharaoh Tut Ankh Amen is endangered was expressed in Exchange Telegraph dispatches from Cairo today.

After working under the highest tension, spurred on by magnificent discoveries in which his brightest eyes came true, Carter has slipped catastrophically. Recent intolerable relations with the Egyptian government, growing out of his finding of treasure of untold value, is even the cause of the health-shattering strain.

Yesterday, in blaring mid-afternoon he left the Valley of Kings with a heavy overcoat wrapped about him. His face was lined and had a worried aspect, the correspondent learned.

Carter, who is hopeful of raising the sarcophagus about January 18, is confident of further dramatic discoveries.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

Jack's mother had several barrels pressed into cider

There was to be a party in the House That Jack Built." A sort of house warming, you might say, for the house was just finished, and Jack and his mother and Jill his sister, had just moved from their old house on Pippin Hill to the pretty little cottage on Broom Street, named in honor of Mother Goose.

Jack thought they ought to change the name of the street to "Dad's Own House of Paddy Gander, as Mother Goose was away so much, but Daddy Gander wouldn't hear to it. He said it was bad enough to have one secret to keep without another one to worry him. He meant the secret about the sign that he and Tom Tinker had ordered "round the sign which said "Mother Goose Her Land." They had turned it over and printed "Daddy Gander His Land" on the other side.

Well, anyway, the party, in Jack's House on Broom Street was going to be a wonderful affair. Peter Pumpkin Eater helped to decorate, and to use his own words, as he had more (mostly pumpkin shells than) "fat" growing lobsters he said he would cut Jack off "Lantern faces" on every corner and run lanterns around, provided the lanterns. Manker would donate them for nothing.

What's that, my dears? Fifty grown lobsters wouldn't have any pumpkin-shells? Why, of course not, they would, leave grown lobsters-shells,

How stupid of me? But I do believe you knew what I mean all the time.

But to get back to the party! I won't stop talking about decorations and lobster shells, and so on, the party will be over and there won't be any room to tell about it.

And Mister Peter, who was so disgruntled for the Tams before he got a nice new dress, offers to make some pumpkin pies.

So I will say the Peterses did their part to make the party a success.

And the Bakersham sent word that as there would likely be a few like Jack Horner, who didn't care for pumpkin, he would be most happy to make a big mince pie and mark it with "J" instead of "H". He didn't say whether the "J" was to be in honor of Jack or Jill or Jack Horner. But perhaps it was for all of them.

And that for pie!

There was to be cider! The apples grow so thick and juicy on Pippin Hill that Jack's mother had had several barrels pressed into cider. And, in deed, it was reported that it was her own food (cider-sugar) that had cured the little boy's head when he fell.

And they had sweet-cake and cake too! But there I'll have to tell you about the party tomorrow. I've begun at the wrong end and told about the refreshments first.

Chapter 77

New Ways of Making War

During the Stone Age, it seems that tribes of men seldom fought against one another. When they did fight, it was in a "hit-or-miss" fashion. They did not shoot their arrows or hurl their spears all together.

When fighting men, or soldiers were drilled (taught) to move and shoot together) the ability to kill was doubled or trebled. The Egyptians learned to drill from watching armies from a country to the northeast.

Most of Egypt's kings wanted peace and did not carry on foreign wars. To have peace was of great help in Egypt in getting to learn more and more things.

Some kings, however, liked to have big armies. They fought against the armies of countries in Asia Minor and Arabia. Sometimes the Egyptians won, sometimes they lost.

In one of the pictures today, you see Egyptian soldiers marching together. Notice the bagpipes—even in those early times music was used to urge men forward to the fight. Slung over the soldiers' shoulders were shields, for protection against "the enemy." In their hands they bore spears and battle-axes with sharp metal edges.

horses into the fray. Sometimes men with spears rode horseback. Sometimes, the kings rode into battle in chariots, drawn by horses. The use of horses for war began in Asia Minor or Arabia.

Probably the deadliest warriors were the archers. Carrying long bows to battle, they fired metal-tipped arrows into the bodies of men on the other side.

INDIANS ON WAR PATH ON BOLIVIA BOUNDARY

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 3.—Many people have been killed and a number of settlements burned in the Chaco territory along the Bolivian border by Indian bands led by the chief, Mad Luis. The Argentine Patriotic league said in a communication to the minister of the interior today.

The league asked permission to recruit men from army volunteers to put down the Indian outbreak, declaring rural police are helpless to cope with the depredators.

(a) Foot soldiers marching to battle.

(b) Notice the wheels (very much like those of today) on the "war chariot" in the picture.

(c) Egyptian "archers" in a row, just ready to shoot.
